FOREWORD

We are living in a time of uneasy peace. Stories of conflict and chaos too often blot the pages of our newspapers. Because of the atrocious enslavement of many peoples, even in the twentieth century, riots and revolts are the rule in many areas rather than the exception.

At the same time the great powers of the world are engaged in a so-called "Cold War." The bitter propaganda struggles and the hate campaigns which are being waged by both sides add wood to the fire.

We Americans are in the middle of the battle. Our position as leader of the free world has placed considerable burdens upon our country and its people, including the younger generation. Despite the cries of juvenile delinquency and immorality, we realize that these young people are our future leaders; that these young people will decide whether peace and prosperity or war and famine are to be the by-words of future generations.

In order to make these decisions intelligently, we must open our minds and become acquainted with the facts. Prejudice and ignorance have no place in a world in which the educated rule. As we grow in knowledge, we also grow in understanding. People are no longer foreign to us when we learn to know them. Until we are able to live in harmony with our neighbors, world peace will remain only a dream.

With this goal, "Peace Through Understanding," in mind, we present the 1964 CLOISTERETTE.

You are about to embark on a tour of the 1964 New York's World Fair, a tour that our senior class was privileged to take on May 1.

It is difficult to express the Splendor of this extravaganza in words. Although millions have visited world fairs in the past, each exhibit seems a little more brilliant than its predecessor; each one pictures a dream world a little more clearly than the one before.

There is more significance in a World's Fair than merely the extraordinary designs and unusual constructions. The fact that countries, many of which are undeniably enemies, are willing to put their ideas side by side, is an indication that these countries can work together on a co-operative project.

One of the marvels of this, as any World's Fair, is the fabulous array of buildings exhibited. The shapes and designs of many of these constructions are beyond the ordinary imagination. Arcs, spires, and spheres of all types mark the architecture of these "dream" buildings.

The amount of utilities needed and used for these acres upon acres of pavilions is also beyond everyday comprehension. Fourteen miles of water mains, twenty-two miles of storm and sanitary drains, one hundred and fifty miles of high tension electric cable and fifty thousand miles of communication wire have been installed to handle the exotic fountains and complicated lighting systems.

Besides that, we must not forget the gigantic problems of parking and roadways which are an absolute necessity. All in all the construction phase of a World's Fair is a tremendous undertaking.

CONTRIBUTIONS FROM ALL LANDS

As we enter the last leg of our tour, we notice that many of the exhibits are foreign. Pakistan, Switzerland and the Sudan are only three of the sixty-seven foreign nations represented. Some of the most remarkable exhibits have been submitted by these nations across the seas.

The smaller, poorer nations of Africa and Asia have also made their contributions. They cannot match the splendor of the large corporations, but their native arts and industries provide interest and amusement for intelligent people.

Our tour has come to a close. But amid all the beauty one idea should remain paramount in our minds. A World's Fair is not simply an expensive carnival. It is a step by all nations toward a lasting world peace. The class of '64 is proud to have been a small part of that step.

JOHN F. KENNEDY — 1917-1963

"... Ask not what your country can do for you; ask what you can do for your country."

It was November 22, 1963. In Dallas, Texas, John F. Kennedy rode in an open black car. Without warning several shots pierced the air. The President of the United States was dead.

The last period of the day came at Ephrata High School. Then the announcement crackled over the intercom. The President was dead. No rumor — he was dead. Only sounds of grief broke the silence. Pupils meditated and prayed. Flags flew at half-mast. Drums beat their death rhythm.

On November 26th Ephrata High School held a memorial service for the assassinated President. The students were asked to examine their purpose in life. Many words were uttered — words that will soon be forgotten. The awesome sense of reverence, though, will be solemnly remembered.

President John Fitzgerald Kennedy, the epitome of a man dedicated to world peace and civil rights, paid the highest price — the price of sacrificial death. He truly believed in achieving "peace through understanding." In initiating the Peace Corps, he displayed his desire to achieve peace through practical and humanitarian means. When he signed the Nuclear Test Ban Treaty, he took the small, but important first step toward ending the terrifying arms race. He pushed for civil rights legislation aimed at ending discrimination against the Negro. John Fitzgerald Kennedy was a man of high ideals and principles. He is an irreplaceable loss to the nation and to all humanity.

The great task of keeping the school running smoothly rests mainly on the shoulders of a few men. The School Board, Mr. Hammon, Mr. Biemesderfer, and Mr. Hoover, face daily the challenges and problems of administering to a school whose student body is continually increasing and whose curriculum is constantly changing. Each of these men merit the appreciation of the entire EHS student body, faculty, and community.

BUSINESS EDUCATION

Personal typing for Seniors

The Business Education Department offers a variety of business courses: shorthand I, II; typing I, II; personal typing; bookkeeping I, II; business law; economics; office machines; general business training; business math and business English. This year our Juniors and Seniors have special Business English classes which aim at "better preparing" students for their chosen vocation. Students studying office machines and typing have the opportunity to do practical office work for teachers in the main office. A new piece of equipment, the skill builder, is being used to develop speed in typing and shorthand transcription. The Senior business students also fill out personality rating sheets in order to discover their weaknesses and then follow a definite plan for improvement. The general business students prepare a career study to help them decide upon the occupation in their future. Group field trips are taken by the business education students to industrial and banking institutions. The senior girls visit offices individually to observe actual office procedures.

There are many contests and proficiency tests for the students to participate in, namely; the High School Contest Day at Bloomsburg State College, the Gregg awards program for proficiency in typing, shorthand, bookkeeping, and filing, and the NOMA awards program for proficiency in business mathematics and spelling.

The three-year old FBLA Club is gaining strength at EHS and helps the department by gathering information for improvement of instruction through surveys and follow-up studies.

ENGLISH

Ephrata High School's English program, now, as in the past, consists of courses and activities intended to develop the necessary skills of communications as laid down in the school's guiding principles. This means the development of such skills in reading, writing, listening, and speaking which are of value to all students in their personal, social, and professional life. Thus, there remains the same emphasis on grammar, literature, and composition appropriate to different grade levels.

The present English courses are adapted not only to grade levels but to the needs of different students. Academic English and business English are offered in the Senior High School. Public speaking and creative writing are being offered as electives. A general course in English for the vocational agriculture students is in the making. In the future lie such electives as a great books seminar, a drama workshop, and advanced placements.

In line with the need for learning in greater depth all the media available are being employed. Such aids as slides, movies, film strips, recordings, and reference books supplement the use of a variety of textbooks.

Skill in reading and a life-long zest for it must be the aim of teacher and student alike. To that end independent reading of great literature is stressed.

To sum up the importance of learning communication skills, one needs only to quote the father of the English essay, Sir Francis Bacon, who wrote, "Reading maketh the full man, conference the ready man, and writing the exact man."

TO POUR THE FRESH

... two independent clauses.

LANGUAGE

New in the language department this year is the language lab, which enables German and Spanish students to improve their understanding and pronunciation by hearing and speaking the language under the personal supervision of the teacher. German is also offered this year as a new elective in ninth grade. The modern foreign language teachers are stressing the oral, aural (speaking, hearing) approach rather than the translation approach.

The Latin classes add to their understanding and translation of the language by making up seasonal mottos, playing Latin games, and using a Latin newspaper RES GESTAE at Christmas time.

The German students attend two German church services in Reading, one at Christmas and one in May. Students also visit a German family in Ephrata and enjoy German cookies and caroling. In March the top German students take a national German test at Franklin and Marshal College.

Using a short-wave receiver, the Spanish students hear up-to-date news broadcasts and cultural activities. So that the students would be encouraged to speak more Spanish, tables for Spanish students are reserved in the cafeteria. The students end the year with a Spanish Fiesta to which Spanish students from neighboring schools are invited.

INSTRUCTION O'ER THE MIND,

That's Correct!!

MATHEMATICS

The courses offered by the Mathematics Department — general mathematics (7,8,9), Algebra I and Algebra II (9,11), plane geometry (10), trigonometry and senior mathematics (12) — give the students of E.H.S. a varied look into the field of mathematics. A new course offered by the department this year was Modern Math at the seventh grade level.

The Algebra I group was divided into two groups — those following the traditional presentation and those following the more vigorous or modern approach. The "modern approach" is also being stressed in most of the other mathematics courses.

For those students whose interest in mathematics goes beyond the classroom, Junior High and Senior High Math Clubs are sponsored.

The mathematics being taught in EHS has been greatly revised during the last few years. Our program is no longer one of out-dated materials, vague definitions, and mechanical viewpoints. New materials such as the set theory and modular systems have made our program of studies more interesting. Modern terminology is being used to give mathematical terms precise meanings. Finally, teachers are now presenting the subject from the viewpoint of logical development, rather than from the viewpoint of rule memorization.

SCIENCE

In addition to general science, biology, chemistry, and physics, physical science was added this year to the list of subjects offered by the science department.

A wealth of excellent science projects was presented at our high school science fair by studious science pupils. Numerous students also took part in the County Science Fair for which our school played host.

As science becomes an increasingly more important part of our culture, some profound changes in the role of education are necessary. Our teachers are now studying recent developments in new science curricula in an effort to up-grade the program. In order to accomplish this, a study was made to determine any overlapping of courses or need for the introduction of new ones.

A beautiful colony.

TO BREATHE THE

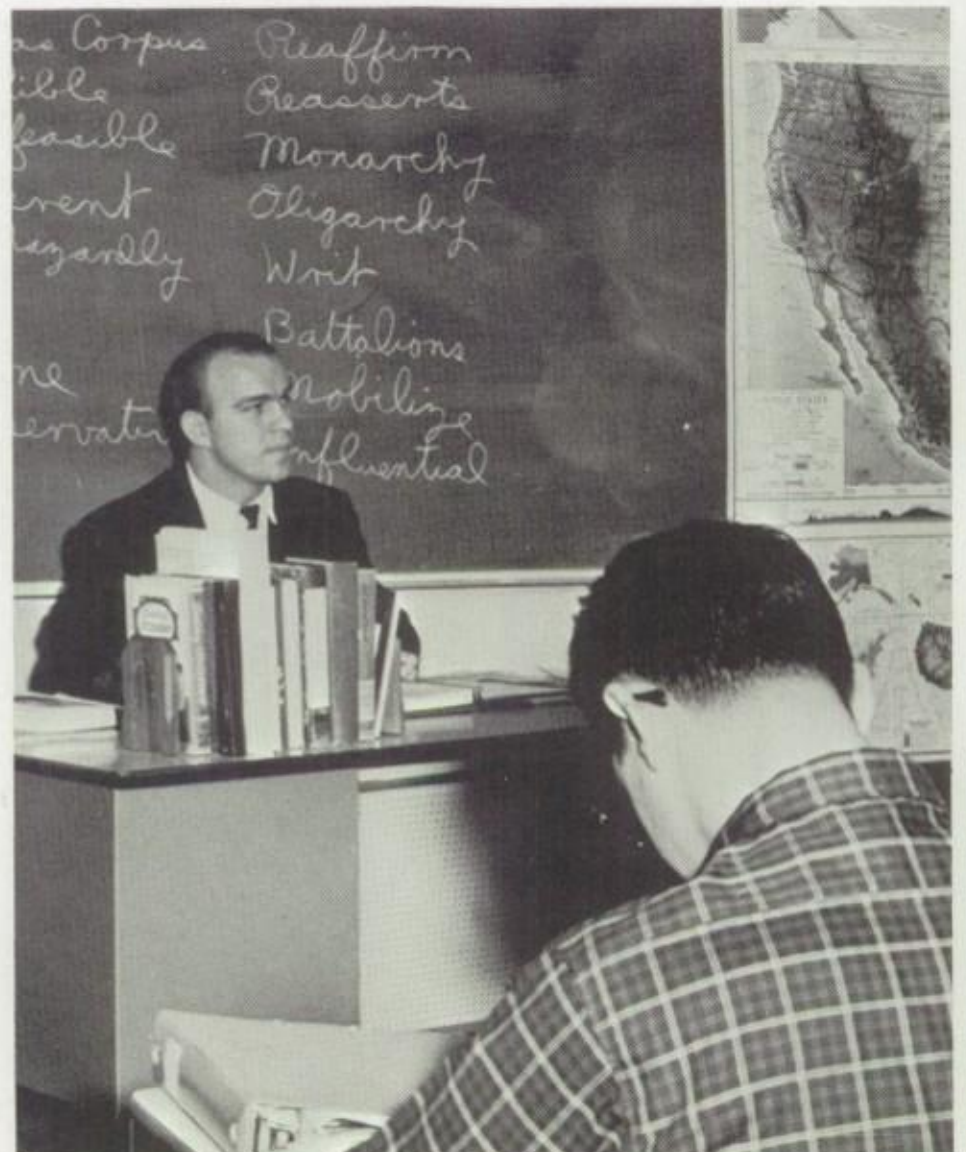

Mr. Lynch contemplates American history.

SOCIAL STUDIES

The Social Studies Department offers a variety of courses: world history, U.S. history, Pennsylvania history, civics, world cultures, problems of democracy, and, an elective, world geography.

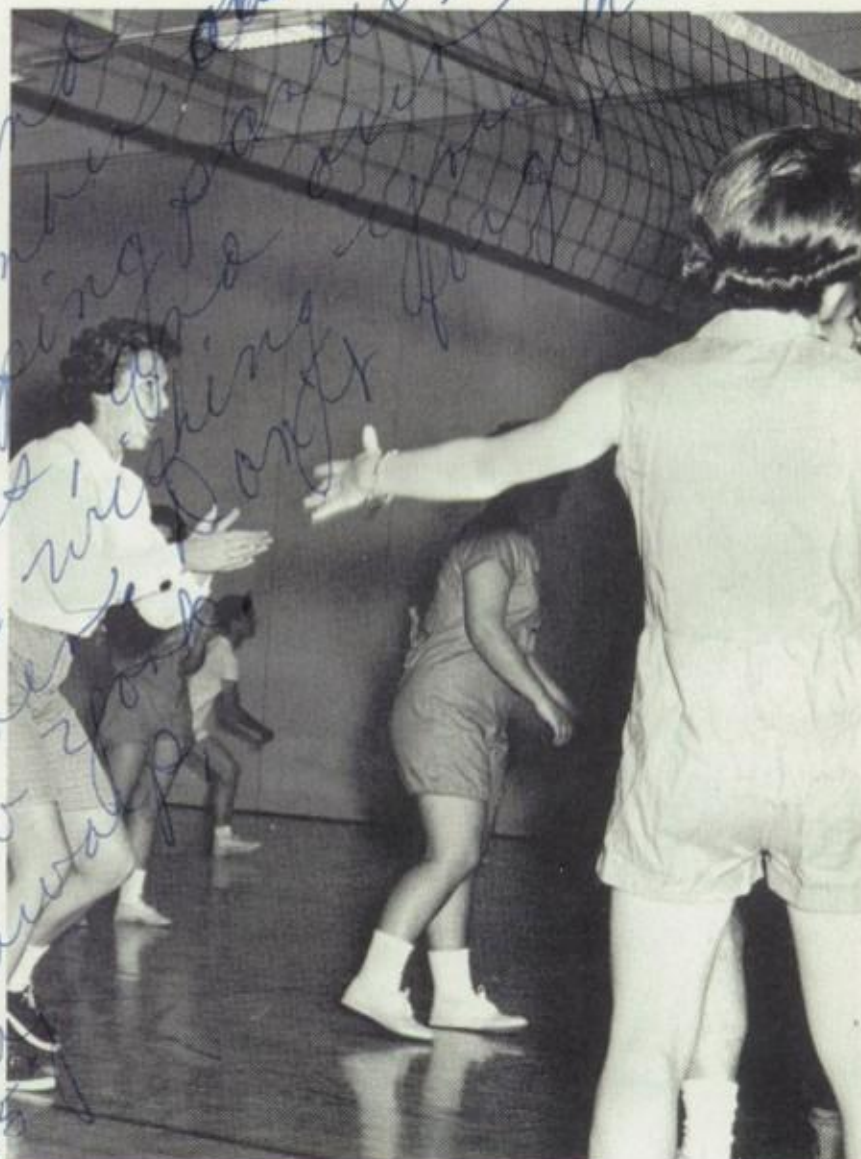

Films, filmstrips, records, and tape recordings are used in all of the classes, and The New York Times is used in world cultures and P.O.D. classes. Atlases in the classrooms are also easily available for use. Visits were made to the classrooms by persons from various world culture areas, and letters were received from a member of the Peace Corp in Ethiopia, who is an alumni of E.H.S.

After gathering information on specific problems in unit activities and projects, the students are given the opportunity to make decisions on problems in world affairs and in our own society.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION AND HEALTH

Keeping the body healthy by teaching good health habits and through physical activity are the aims of the health and physical education departments. This year, archery, tennis, and an introduction to bowling are the new courses offered by the department. Testing has also been started in the physical education classes. The students will be tested twice a year and results will be recorded on the student's card, which will follow him through his six years at Ephrata. The tests will be standardized, and the department will be concerned mainly with individual improvement.

"Way to go!!"

ENLIVENING SPIRIT,

Mr. Bieber gives instruction.

ART AND MUSIC

The art department offers such subjects as drawing, painting, sculpture and art history. Because of the greater number of class periods per day this year at E. H. S., more senior high students had the opportunity to elect art. Several students in this year's art classes also took part in a field trip to New York City's Metropolitan Museum on November 4, 1963.

General music for junior high, techniques of music for junior high, techniques of music for senior high, and string classes for both junior and senior high are offered by the music department of E. H. S. Another integral part of the department are the county and district orchestras, bands and choruses. All of the students in the music classes were able to attend this year's Community Concerts through the courtesy of the Akron Women's Civics Club.

HOME ECONOMICS

Home Economics plays an important part in every girl's life, since most girls will become homemakers someday. The home economics department offers units of instruction in child care and guidance, family clothing, family health and safe living, food for the family, housing for the family, and personal, family, and community relationships.

In order to observe quantity cooking, the classes visit the Ephrata Community hospital and the school cafeteria. Field trips are also made to observe the cutting and identification of retail cuts of meat.

The department feels that it would be desirable if all girls in Senior High could take at least two periods per week of home economics to prepare them for their future role as a housewife.

Girls learn home care of the sick.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

Many new facilities, courses and equipment were added to the industrial arts department this year. A drawing room, properly equipped, was added in order that mechanical, engineering, and architectural drawing could become a part of the program. Equipment for the preparation, refinement, and mass production of ceramics, plastic industrial process, and leather working was also made available.

The industrial arts classes have taken field trips to various local industries. They also participated in the Delaware Valley Industrial Arts Fair, and prepared semi-annual displays of projects. Among the topics studied by the classes are manufacturing, industries, and problems in mass production.

The industrial arts department also offers activities in ceramics, leather, and plastics for girls in eighth and ninth grade.

TO FIX THE GENEROUS

Graphic arts for girls, too.

VOCATIONAL AGRICULTURE

Since Lancaster County is known as the "garden spot," vocational agriculture occupies a special place in our school curriculum. In addition to the basic agriculture subjects which are taught in the classroom, the farm mechanics shop is used for farm machinery repair, project construction, and farm power testing.

Every student is required to have a farm project such as raising a calf or baby beef, cultivating a garden, or growing corn and small grains. The student is required to keep a record book for each project to supplement classroom instructions. Field trips are made by the class to observe each project.

The pupils also display projects at local, regional, and state shows and participate in county and state judging contests.

PURPOSE IN THE GLOWING BREAST."

Safety Ed will see a film.

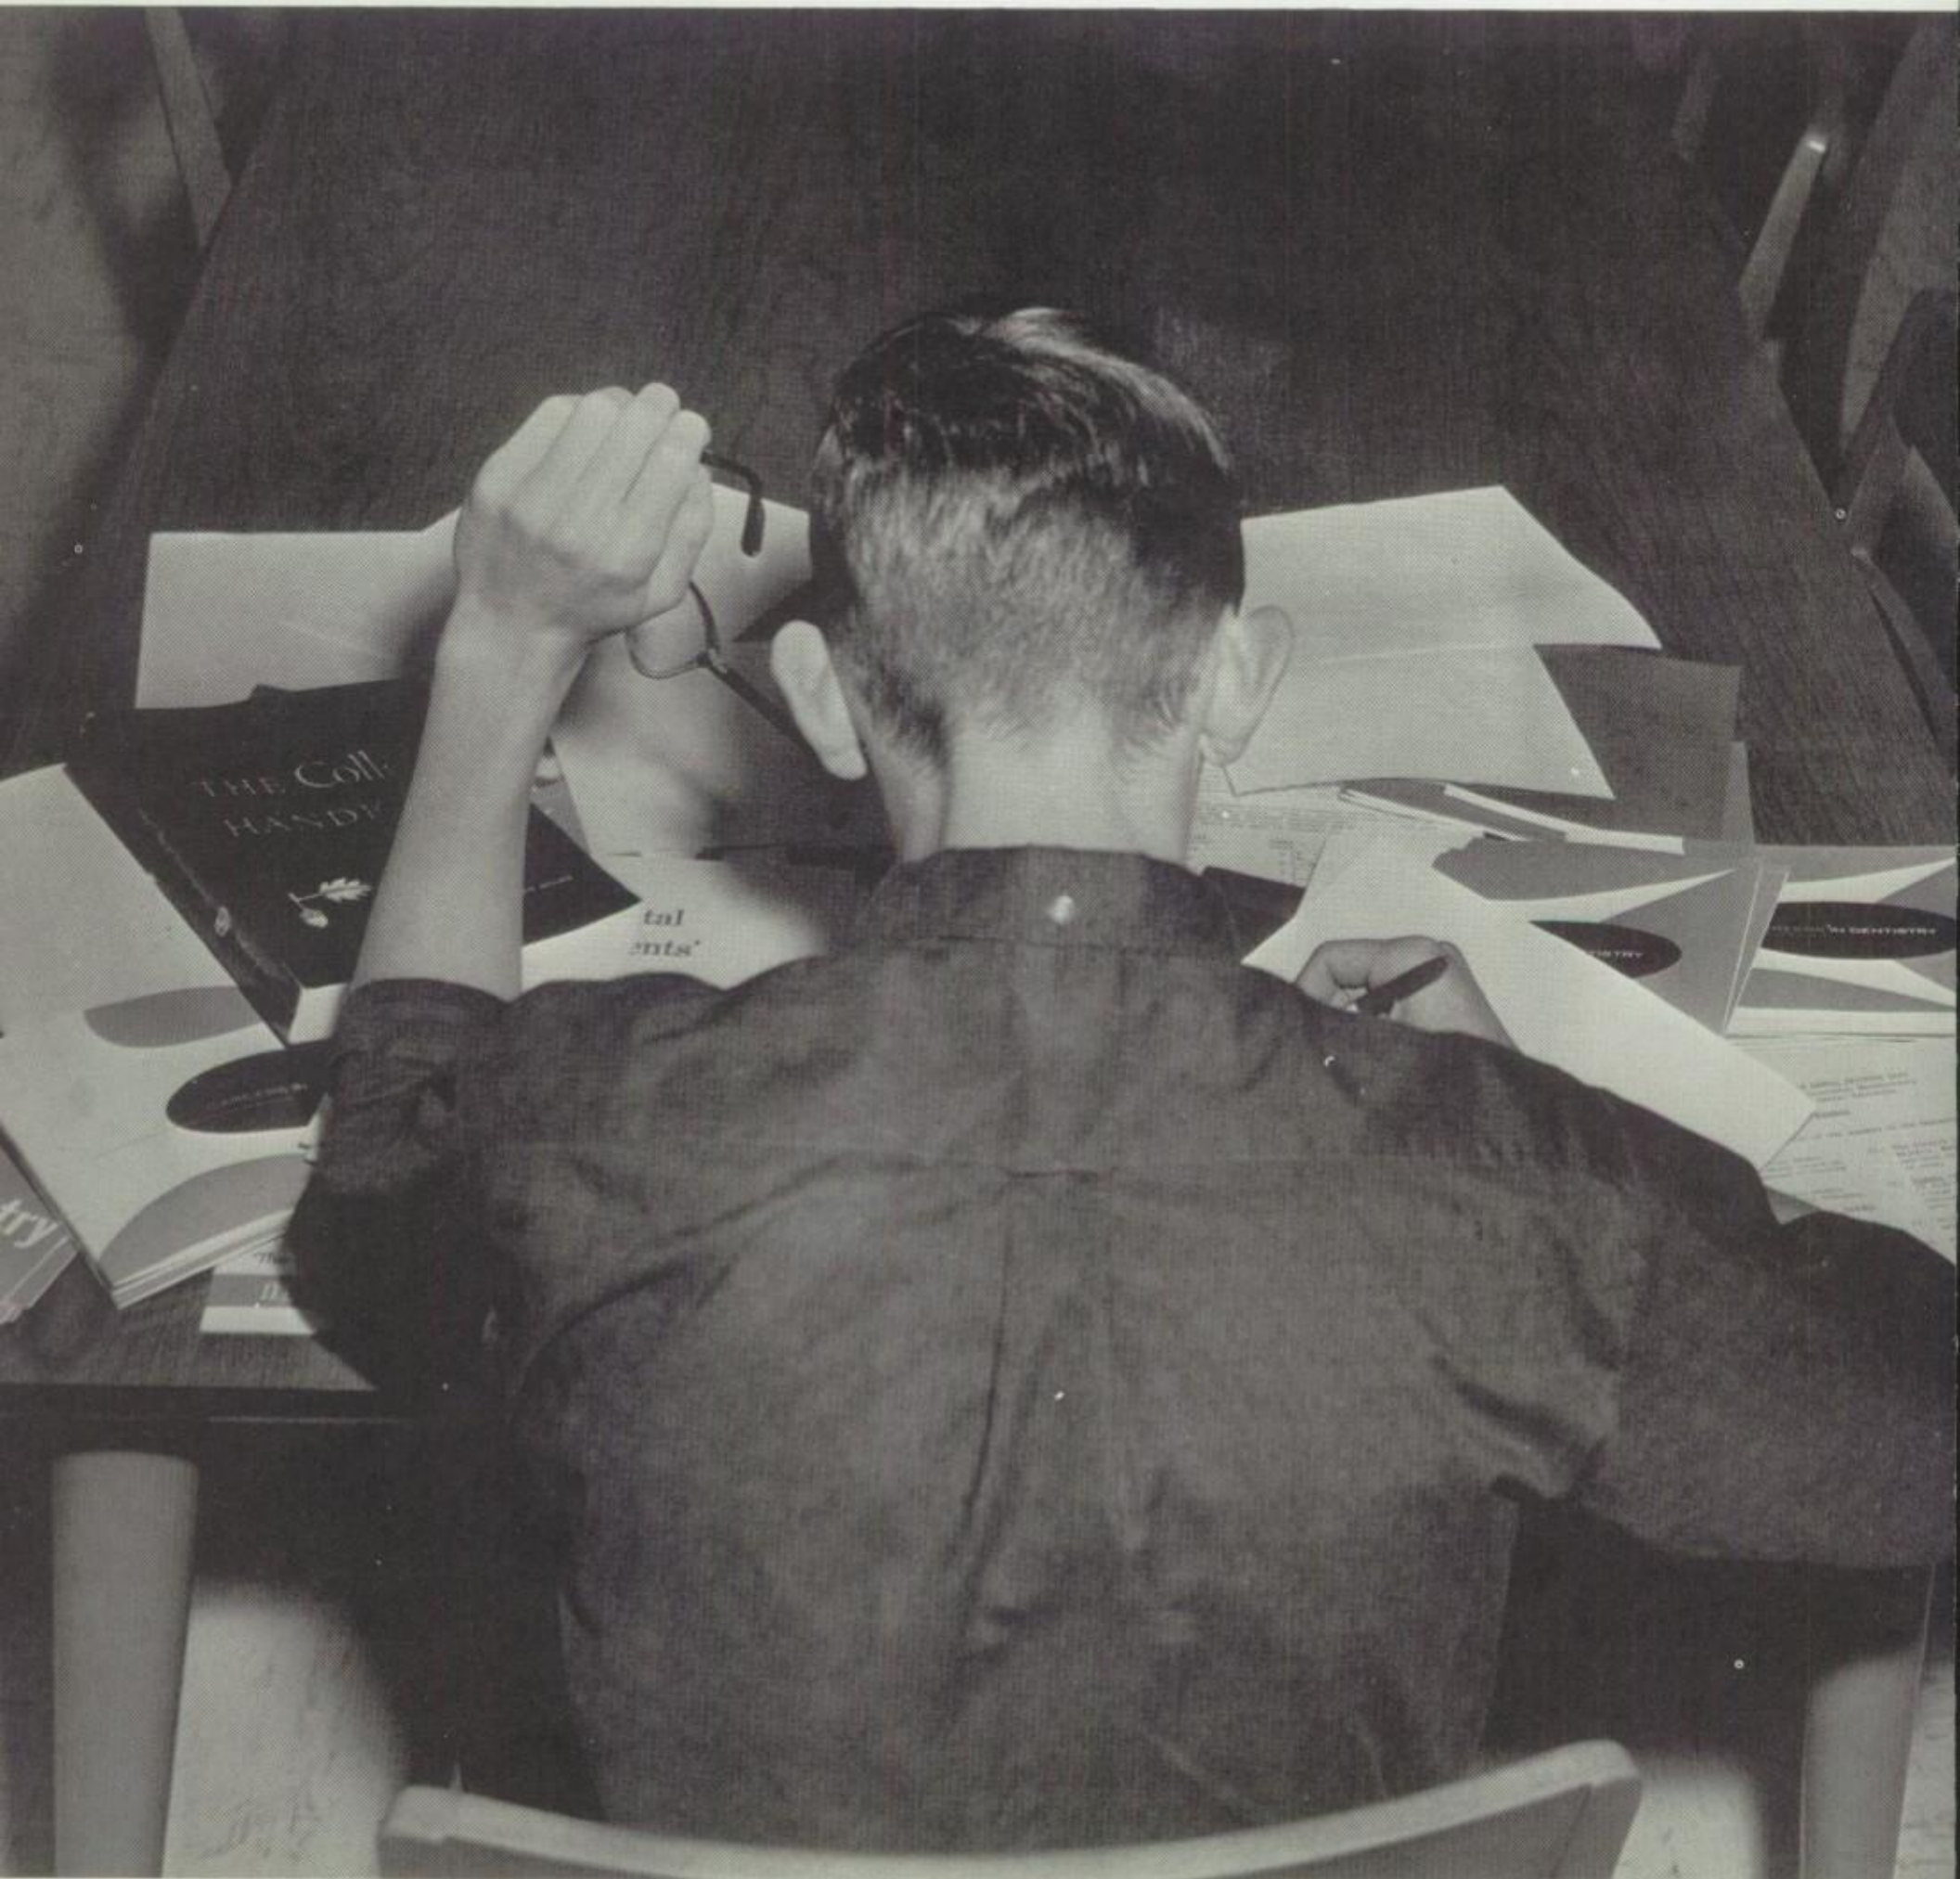

SAFETY EDUCATION

Being able to drive safely is an important part of almost everyone's life. The students in this course study laws and natural factors governing driving, and the operative parts as well as behind-the-wheel training.

The safety education department enhances its learning program by inviting guest speakers such as doctors, state policemen, and insurance agents. The students have also made traffic surveys on dangerous areas in the school district. The Annual Essay Contest in co-operation with the Insurance information office of Pennsylvania on Safe Driving is open to the students with prizes up to $1,000 in cash.

JUNIORS EAGER TO TAKE OVER LEADERSHIP

The Juniors — Class of '65 — have made many contributions to E.H.S.

Led by their competent, hard-working officers, they have given us honorable members in the fields of football, basketball, track, and baseball.

The flash of red from the charcoal grey and red '65 jackets was seen at the beginning of the year. The decision for colors was a battle as usual, but the jackets arrived just in time to be shown off at the Fair.

Later came the struggle through world cultures and the disconcerting New York Times.

The Juniors livened up class activities with an ever-popular Hootenanny. Then came the exciting class play which required hard work. The successful performance proved that, in addition to heroic sportsmen, the junior class will also make a contribution to the field of Drama with its talented actors and actresses.

To end their years as underclassmen the class sponsors the Junior-Senior Prom which is always a festive event.

The Senior Class is proud to give you their leadership, accompanied with wishes for success in attaining your goals.

SR. HIGH FLEDGLINGS GAIN EXPERIENCE

With the helpful advice of Mr. Wissler and Miss Zarfoss, the class of '66 has emerged victorious over the chaos of Junior High and has proved itself capable of writing a new chapter in the book of "Wise Fools." Now an organized unit with elected officers and ample voices in the student government, they are well prepared to assume increased responsibilities as Juniors. Representing them on the Student Council are Jo Marie Althouse, Martha Fry, Craig Hartman, Diedre Kilhefner, James Mentzer, Richard Shiffer, and Dennis Zimmerman. Definite talent has been displayed as its individuals lend their ability to chorus and band, wit to Key Club and Mountaineer, and Athletic prowess to football, basketball, baseball, and rifle teams. A valuable asset to the Cloisterette Staff are Deidre Kilhefner, Jill Miller, and Josie Shreiner.

The annual "War of Colors" resulted in a decisive victory for olive green and white. Highlighting the sophomore year for the class of '66 is the Sophomore Party.

The graduating class of '64 congratulates you on an excellent beginning and encourages you to march onward on a difficult but rewarding road of knowledge and responsibility.

COUNCIL IS E.H.S.'S REPRESENTATIVE BODY

School Government at work.

The purposes of the Student Council of E.H.S. are to reveal student opinions and ideas, improve student-faculty relations, and practice the ideals of democracy. By selling E.H.S. decals and book covers, the group has financed their different projects. The council is advised by Mr. Kenneth Samara. Officers are: W. Gast, President; G. Miley, Vice-president; A. Hacker, Secretary; B. Weaver, Corresponding Secretary; M. Duple, Treasurer.

Key Club

CLUB WORKS FOR A BETTER SCHOOL AND COMMUNITY

Santa's Helpers

The Key Club is sponsored by the local Kiwanis Club. Membership is open to all Senior High boys in the upper one third of their class. Bettering the school and improving the community, the Club's goals, are achieved through a myriad of ways. To raise funds for their projects, the members sell chocolate bars and fruit cakes, hold dances and sell lettered sweatshirts. Their most important projects this year were buying the "Mountaineer Staff" a camera, making monetary contributions to a school for the blind and to the Recreation Center, decorating the school with the Christmas trees, and cleaning the gym for sports events. Membership in the Key Club is not "all work and no play"; however, for there is always a club hayride, a dance, a picnic, the Interstate convention, or the tomato stand at our Ephrata Fair! The club is led by Gerald Miley, President; Tom Hobbins, Vice President; Woody Ranck, 2nd Vice President; Jeff Bohler, Secretary; Dave Meck, Treasurer; and Mr. Breslin, Advisor.

CLOISTERETTE Editors

STAFF PRESENTS WORLD'S

The 1964 CLOISTERETTE is the product of the combined efforts of many seniors and a few juniors and sophomores. They have added three new sections to this yearbook; a feature section, containing pictures of the high-lights in the class of 1964's high school days; a junior high section, covering all facets of school life in the junior high; and a curriculum section, which is comprised of the departments and the subjects they have to offer.

Production of the yearbook itself is a tremendous project. Few realize the work entailed in publishing such an annual. Planning for the '64 CLOISTERETTE began last year, when the staff chose their theme. During the summer of '63 a meeting was held in the high school for the purpose of distributing ads.

CLOISTERETTE Literary Staff

CLOISTERETTE Business Staff

FAIR PREVIEW

Soon after school began, the sales campaign was started, giving the students a chance to order their year-books early. Since then, the editors and staff members worked furiously in order to meet each deadline. Room 207 appeared calm and quiet. One look inside, however, revealed the staff busily drawing, selecting pictures and drawing over and over again.

The members have written, re-written, argued, worried, proofread and finally the finished book. The staff members hope you like the result of their efforts. The editors were Russell Rupp, editor-in-chief; Venessa Adams, associate editor; Patty Bollinger, layout editor; Judy Busser, photography editor; James Wenger, literary editor. The group has been advised by Miss Janice L. Reed and Miss LaVon Nolt.

THEY WORK TO KEEP THE SCHOOL INFORMED

Under the leadership of co-editors, Sherry Nestleroth and Dawn Witmer, and the help of their advisor, Miss Hoover, the "Mountaineer" has had another successful year. Several changes were made by the staff. Perhaps the most important change was the publishing of eight issues, instead of the previous six.

The following is the statement of policy issued by the editors: "The aims of the "Mountaineer" staff are to maintain high literary standards and to keep the students informed about school functions."

Other editors are E. Gotwalt, news editor; J. Shiffer, sports editor; M. Riffert, feature editor; J. Flickinger, exchange editor.

Senior High Library Club

LOVING BOOKS LEADS TO SERVICE

By helping with the establishment of Ephrata's new Public Library, the Library Club members have gained a new insight into the care and worth of books. All phases of library work were experienced by members this year and this proved to be beneficial not only to the club, but to the community also since it now boasts about a library of its own. Led by President Jean Shiffer, and Miss Hoover, advisor, the club sells paperback books and attends conventions. Other officers of the club are Nadine Long, Vice-President; Sylvia Althouse, Secretary and Treasurer.

FBLA

The Future Business Leaders of America Club is a national organization which is open to anyone enrolled in a business subject. The Club takes field trips, obtains speakers from various business fields, and does clerical work for teachers. In order to fulfill the purposes of the club, FBLAers engage in such projects as follow-up studies of graduates, business equipment surveys, presentation of a Christmas dinner to a deserving family, and a birthday party for the children at Christ's Home. Money making activities are also necessary to finance attendance at the State Conventions and to conduct its variety of projects. Officers are Rachel Mellinger, President; Gloria Martin, Vice President; Jean Eitnier, Secretary; Barbara Meiskey, Treasurer; Teresa Stafford, Reporter. The group is advised by Mr. VanHousen and Miss Reed.

Future Nurses of America

FNA

Touring various hospitals, sponsoring the TB Drive, and participating in the Chest X-Rays are a few of this club's projects. Some of the members also do volunteer work for the Ephrata Community Hospital. The officers are Jeanette Stover, President; Pat Zartman, Vice President; Ruth Hoffman, Treasurer; and Madolin Steinmetz, Secretary. This group is guided by Mrs. Shreiner.

FOR FUTURE CAREERS

FTA

One of the best preparations for a future teacher is to observe a "veteran" at work in a classroom, hence, the F.T.A.'s cadet teaching program. This program, together with visiting various club conventions, has helped F.T.A. members to decide whether teaching is the career for them. To finance the various field trips taken by the club, the members faithfully sell candy at home, basketball games and wrestling matches. All the club projects, including broadcasting "Ephrata High School Highlights" every Saturday, were skillfully led by the President Earla Kurtz. The other capable officers this year were Kathy Horst, vice-president; Melby Bush, secretary; Joan Flickinger, treasurer; and Henrietta Nissley, historian. Mr. Appleby is the club advisor.

Senior High Future Farmers

CLUB PREPARES THE FARMERS OF TOMORROW

To develop competent, aggressive rural and agricultural leadership, and to create and nurture a love of country life are the foremost goals of the Future Farmers of America Club. The fact that Ephrata's Club placed in the Lancaster County FFA Judging Contest for the past two consecutive years is evidence of the members' interest and support in upholding the club's goals. To become a FFA member students must be enrolled in the Vocational Agriculture Course. One, therefore, can reap much benefit by being an active member and by following the Vo. Ag. track. The club functions under the leadership of T. Spitler, President; H. Good, Vice-President; B. Hirneisen, Secretary; P. Weaver, Treasurer; J. Varner, Reporter; C. Bollinger, Sentinel; J. Wisler, Chaplin, and Advisor, Mr. Ayers.

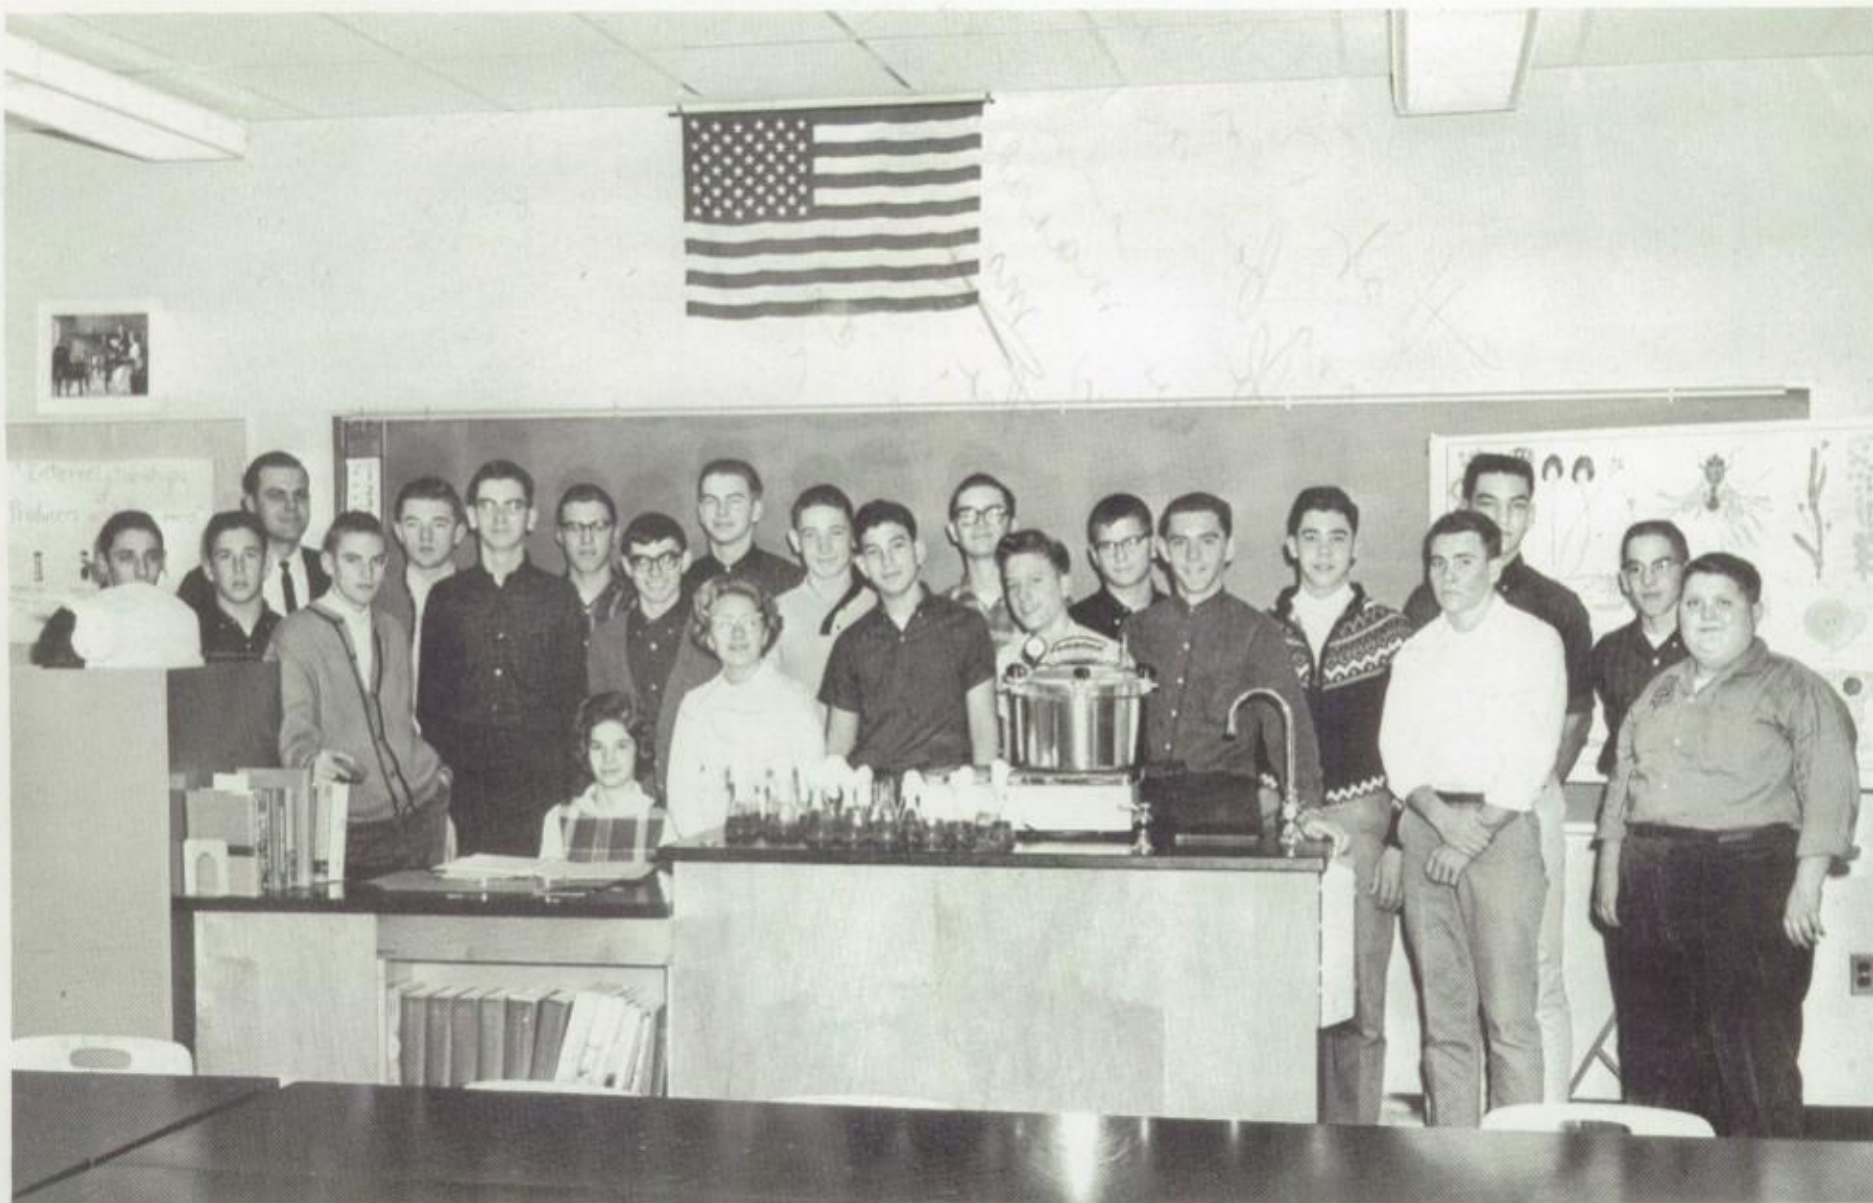

HOMEMAKERS LEARN DOMESTIC BEAUTY

Under the capable leadership of their President, Carla Eberly, the Club sponsored a Christmas party for the students at the Bethany School. Members also made tray favors, candy cups, and stuffed toys for the Lancaster Chapter of the Red Cross. Their self-improvement project was learning how to knit. The other officers of the Club are Linda Steininger, Vice-President; Brenda Ditzler, Treasurer; Pat Steinmetz, Secretary; Ruth Ann Smith, Reporter; and Cheryl Felker, Historian. Mrs. Lentz is the Club's sponsor.

Future Scientists' Projects

Under the leadership of their president, Henry Benner, and sponsor, Mr. Horst, the Science Club prepared experiments and demonstrated them in our elementary schools in an attempt to interest these students in the Science Fair. The Science Club of Ephrata supervised the County Science Fair which was held at Ephrata High School this year. The Club had a demonstration of the oscilloscope, and also conducted a PH experiment in which they found the acid and basic ions found in solutions. The other officers of the Club are Rodney Becher, Vice-President; Jennifer Irvin, Secretary; and Scott Davis, Treasurer.

MEN PERFORM BEHIND THE SCENES

The stage crew, ably trained by Mr. James Bostic, made possible the production and success of our class plays. They also assist with the lighting and arrangement of props during our assembly programs. Let's give these boys their due credit.

CLUB PROVIDES VALUABLE SERVICE

Although among the more newly established clubs at Ephrata High School, the Girls' Service Club already is recognized as a valuable member of our activity program. Whether serving as waitresses for a school board banquet or hostessing our annual open house, these girls make their worth known. One of their main projects is a collection of pictures to be used by social studies, English and science classes. All of these services are directed by the club's advisor, Miss Weeter and its officers: Brenda Weaver, president; Nancy Harriger, vice-president; and Judy Hagy, secretary.

FEMALES SHOW GYMNASTIC SKILLS

"Active" in every sense of the word, the Girls' Gym Club divides its time among team sports, the available gymnastic apparatus and exercises which they perform to music. The girls plan to exhibit some of their latter skills in a show to be given at Franklin and Marshall College under the direction of their advisor, Miss Zar-foss. In addition, playoffs are held to determine representatives for the annual volleyball playday at Conestoga Valley High School. Officers of the club include: Nadine Long, president; Marilyn Martin, vice-president; and Judy Hagy, secretary.

EXPERT MARKSMANSHIP IS THEIR GOAL

The Rifle Club under the guidance of Mr. Carl Weidman spends much time after school in the rifle range. They are trained not only to shoot well, but to practice all safety rules while shooting. Once again this year many girls displayed an interest in the sport. The Club helps the individual develop the skill necessary to become a member of the rifle team.

MATHEMATICIANS BAND TOGETHER

Under the leadership of their sponsor, Mr. Taylor, and their president, Dave Meck, the Math Club has planned programs dealing with math problems, symbolic logic, topology, infinity and vectors. The Club also had college professors and undergraduates speak to the members. The other officers are: Melby Bush, Secretary; and Denis Albright, Treasurer.

MOUNTS SURVIVE REBUILDING YEAR

This year's team did not compile as good a record as last year's team, but the boys played many quarters and gained valuable experience. With only five seniors on the team many underclassmen got a chance to see action, and these fellows should provide a good nucleus for next year's team.

The team succeeded in defeating arch rivals Warwick and Cocalico. By defeating Cocalico, 19 to 6, Ephrata gained permanent possession of the Ephrata Review Trophy. The trophy is given to the team that wins the contest to keep for the following year. A team gains permanent possession by winning three games in a row.

COACHES

Mr. King, Mr. Lynch, Mr. Young

It is quality, not quantity, that counts. Such is the case with the senior members of the EHS varsity football team. Although only five in number, these boys formed a veteran nucleus for an otherwise inexperienced team. It takes experience like this to hold a "green" team together.

Players in their final season included Denis Albright, first team all-conference quarterback; Dennis Bender, first team all-conference center; Bill Gast and Glenn Hauck, who received honorable mention berths at fullback and end respectively; and Bob Stief, end.

Sometimes unnoticed, often unrewarded, the cheerleaders of EHS incite the clamor so important to any athletic team. Even when our boys are on the short end of the score, these ten girls continue to display spirit with continuous cheering.

Practice for these girls begins early in the summer and continues through the school year. This year, also out front cheering during football season, was our mascot, Roger Eberly.

Without a doubt our cheerleaders promote much enthusiasm.

The Mighty Mounts of Ephrata High School's basketball team, under the leadership of Mr. Snook and Mr. Witmer, proved to be rough competition against overwhelming odds in the 1963-1964 season.

Five returning lettermen: Denis Albright, Woodrow Ranck, Tom Hobbins, Barry Pfautz, and Jim Wolf helped EHS. Winning their share of games and losing others by very narrow margins, the team displayed extraordinary sportsmanship when they suffered a heart-breaking loss to Penn Manor in a double overtime thriller.

Coaches — Mr. Byers, Mr. King.

Under the supervision of Mr. King and Mr. Byers, the EHS wrestling team turned in many commendable performances. Wrestling, a relatively new sport at our school, produced many stand-out performers in its second year of varsity existence. Among these were tri-captains Bill Gast, Gary Rottmund, and Tony Weinhold.

The many underclassmen on the team have gained experience which will aid the team in the future bouts. With the underclassmen's improvement in mind, the coaches are anticipating an exciting season next year.

SENIOR RIFLEMEN

An important portion of Ephrata High School's athletic program, the rifle team, is under the competent leadership of Mr. Weidman.

The team, which practices an established three nights a week, consists of both boys and girls. These people have shown exceptional accomplishments in marksmanship in the season's matches which are held once a week.

The members of the team are proud of their top shooters; Marian Martin, who ranks number one, Phil Leatherman, John Schaufert, Mike Lurie, and Brenda Good, as well as the surprising number of girls who have tried out for this challenging sport. They sincerely hope that riflery will continue to be a vital part of Ephrata High School's sports picture in the years to come.

FRATA TRACKMEN DISPLAY SKILL

The Ephrata High School track team experienced a relatively good season in 1963. This was due to the efforts of Mr. Engleman, the coach, and a fine group of athletes.

Allen Buffenmyer, a 1963 graduate, set a new school record for the 220 yard dash at 22.8 seconds. Another graduate, Ed Miller, was our best miler, winning this event in six track meets and placing second in the Lancaster County Meet.

Our 880 relay team composed of Ridgeway, Hobbins, Weit, and Buffenmyer, brought many honors to Ephrata. They won in six meets, at the County meet and in the Manheim Relays.

Tom Hobbins, who holds our school's record for the 440 yard run, and Dave Meck, our champion half miler, will be veterans for our 1964 team. Lettermen Weik, McCarty, Shrom, and Royer, along with Hobbins and Meck, present a hopeful future for our team.

The following girls were also members of the track team and participated in the Manheim Relays: Pam Starry, Sylvia Althouse, Donna Buffernmyer, Jean Shiffer, Marian Martin, Gale Oberholtzer, Euzane Wilhelm, Kathy Kerchner, Jennifer Irvine, Jeanette Stover, Carole Tuck, and Nancy Harriger.

The evenings of March 15 and 16, 1963, were weird ones to visitors of the Ephrata High School. A visit to the auditorium was an excursion to prehistoric times with cave boys and cave girls. One actually could see how the wheel was invented. This was the Junior Class Play, THE BOY WHO CHANGED THE WORLD.

When play practice began, Mr. Doll held the directing chores, but due to illness he was hospitalized and Miss Nordstrom became the director.

For long weeks cast members memorized lines, received blocking instructions, and REHEARSED. Finally, the night arrived; make-up was applied and jittery nerves watched the clock climb slowly to curtain time. Then the curtain went up and all practices were behind. THE BOY WHO CHANGED THE WORLD was presented by the Junior Class. An interesting sidelight was that the Junior Class of Manheim Township High School presented the same play on the same night.

Was Karen Andre a cold, heartless killer who deserved a just punishment or was she just an innocent victim of circumstances? On the nights of November 22 and 23, 1963, the answer to this question was provided as Karen Andre stood trial before a competent jury. On both the nights that the play was presented Karen Andre was found innocent.

The trial was built around an intricately woven plot with various details of the story brought out by several witnesses who were called to give their story, either on behalf of the defense or the state. This was perhaps one of the largest attended trials ever held as the whole audience became the spectators before the tense proceedings.

Two of the more unusual aspects of the play were the selection and voting of the jury. The members were chosen from the audience at random and their decision needed only a majority vote rather than the usual unanimous vote.

THE ENCHANTMENT OF "PINK PARADISE"

We could have danced all night.

"Pink Paradise" was the theme for the Junior-Senior Prom held May 10, 1963, in the high school cafeteria. Trees draped with pink angel hair, a large fountain which sprayed pink water, and a "Stairway to the Stars" highlighted the decorations.

The music, provided by Al Morrison and his Orchestra, joined the decorations in giving an unforgettable evening to all in attendance. Following the prom was the annual post-prom party held at the Elks.

The fact that a rainstorm hit Ephrata the night of the prom did not dampen the enthusiasm of the Juniors who had planned and decorated that afternoon in ninety degree heat. Although the boys probably had spent the day washing and shining their cars, sad faces were not to be seen that evening.

The student body of Ephrata High School, on May 26, 1963, was entertained by a gymnastic show presented by the Boys' and Girls' Athletic Clubs under the direction of Mr. King and Mrs. Shrom. The program featured routines in all phases of tumbling and the use of gymnastic apparatus, such as parallel bars, the Swedish box, flying rings, and the trampoline.

Included in the tumbling portion were demonstrations of correct form in forward and backward rolls, "kips," hand-springs, headstands, various routines using the springboard, and diving forward rolls.

Featured at the beginning of the program was a combined ensemble of both the Boys' and Girls' Gymnastic Clubs doing calisthenics to the lively music of "Go, You Chicken Fat, Go."

Other highlights included in the gym show were the precision marching and drilling of a group from the Girls' Athletic Club; a unique dance routine in which bamboo poles were used; a comedy act featuring two members of the Boys' Athletic Club dressed as clowns and using various pieces of gymnastic equipment in their act; and a special group from the Junior High School in a tumbling exhibition.

Winners in the Senior High division and their projects were: James Stauffer — Electronic Organ, Physics Winner; Rodney Becker — Analysis of Cooking Oils, Chemistry; Henry Benner — Photosynthesis and Respiration Rates of Aquatic Plants and Animals, Chemistry.

It was evident that the exhibitors who had projects entered spent much time and put forth much thought and effort in the planning and construction of their exhibits. There was also a great amount of interest shown by the community, as Ephrata's first science fair was well attended by the public.

The school year 1963-1964 was one with varied and interesting assemblies. Among these have been pep rallies, award and citizenship assemblies, programs presented by school organizations, and those made available by local organizations and prominent people in the community. It was the year in which the Annual Christmas Assembly was highlighted with carols sung by the chorus and played by the band. It was the year in which Garden Spot High School presented "The Time Machine of Dr. Botts," an original musical comedy.

On the solemn side, the school paid tribute to our assassinated President, John F. Kennedy with speeches by William Gast, president of the Student Council, Mr. Biemesderfer and Rev. Frances Pirazzini.

Also included in the year's assembly programs was The Franklin and Marshall band which presented a concert on January 27 in the school auditorium.

In the spring of 1963, the Sophomore Class held a dance in the parking lot behind the cafeteria of the high school. The Tri-Hop, as it was called, was unique in that students from neighboring Warwick and Colcalico High Schools were invited.

The Senior High Dance Committee went to work in the fall and produced "Frostbite Falls." This dance, with music provided by the Exciting Invictas, a popular combo from Middletown, proved to be one of the most successful Senior High dances ever held. The theme "Frostbite Falls" portrays the fictional home of Rocket J. Squirrel and Bullwinkle the Moose, of the "Bullwinkle" television show.

FROSH GAIN GRIDIRON EXPERIENCE

The freshman football team, led by coach Quick and White, spent many hours practicing during the summer and after school. Guided by their co-captains Randy Zimmerman and Barry Rupp, these boys put forth much effort and gained invaluable experience for future years. The freshman team of this year excelled in offensive play but lagged defensively, a contrast to last year's team. Within a few years the boys will have an opportunity to prove themselves worthy of membership on the Varsity team.

CAGERS EXCITE MANY SPECTATORS

The basketball team this year thrilled the spectators by opening the season with a win over Warwick (32-31), a real "cliff-hanger." Excitement was high as Warwick missed the possible winning basket in the final seconds of the game. This is only one example of the "spine-tingling" games played by the Junior Mounts. Coached by Mr. Smith, Randy Zimmerman and Randy Foltz, co-captains of the team, led the Junior High cagers through a season of hard fighting defensive and offensive basketball.

Mr. White, coach of the Junior High Junior Varsity team, taught the boys on the squad that experience is the key to bettering themselves competitively. This experience will help strengthen the basketball teams in the future.

Junior High Band

ACTIVITIES DEMAND SKILL AND ENERGY

This year has been an especially busy one for the band. Making an appearance at the annual parades gives the members marching practice, as well as experience, for their years ahead in the Senior High Band. That Mr. Bieker has been working hard with this group toward a more diversified and interesting band, will be shown in their annual spring concert.

Many instrumentalists have been able to turn from one instrument to another so that they might find the one that is right for them. This flexibility has proven to be very successful indeed. Although the group will lose many of its members in the spring, it will gain many new ones next year so as to keep the high standards of this year's Junior High Band.

Junior High Special Units

SPECIAL UNITS

Have you noticed those pretty, talented girls in front of the band? Everyone has. They're the special units who add something special to any marching unit or concert. These girls work hard to work up the routines they use, and spend more time in practice than most of us realize. Have you ever tried swinging a Swiss flag on a cold, windy day? That's just one of the difficulties these girls handle with such self-assurance. With all the hard work and energy that the girls contributed to the special units this year, they were certainly a great attribute to the whole school.

CHEERLEADERS

"Fight team fight, fight team fight, let's go!" These are familiar words to all and bring to mind the peppy enthusiasm of the cheerleaders of the Junior High School. Cheering is a duty which they do well, but it is not the only one. Leading the pep assemblies, making announcements for various activities, and selling tickets for the buses to "away" games are a few other jobs that the cheerleaders do so well and take in their stride. The support for the Junior High teams would not be so great without the effort that is continually put out on the part of these busy cheerleaders.

Junior High Seventh Grade Chorus

CHORUS UNVEILS VOCAL ABILITY

The seventh grade chorus, under the direction of Miss Sittler, has had a very promising season, and showed their ability to vocalize by entertaining the community in an inspiring Christmas program and a gay spring festival. Mr. Johnston, conducting the eighth and ninth grade chorus, has also shown to the public in these same performances, the melodious quality young voices can attain when formal instruction is made available.

Students are entertained with a musical assembly.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The theme for this year's efficient Junior High Student Council, under the guidance of Mr. Book, is a cross between school spirit and culture. These young leaders have carried out their theme by the use of assemblies where a historical movie was shown and, another time, where a talent program was presented. Also, they sponsored the "Parrish Steelman's Chorus" for the enjoyment of the public as well as students.

The council helped indirectly with the seventh, eighth, and ninth grade parties and held a dance of their own. Another important activity of these vigorous individuals is an orientation program held for incoming seventh graders each year. This group works hard, and as is evident, has much to show for their efforts. The officers of this council are President, C. Garber; Vice-President, V. Reddig, Secretary, C. Smith; and Treasurer, W. Leiphart.

FHA

The Junior High FHA, with the assistance of Mrs. Blough, has worked diligently at various projects this year. The girls were co-hosts with the Library Club in entertaining the faculty at a Christmas tea and sponsored the decorating of Christmas trees and living area unit in the school. Much time was devoted to a "Stay in School Project" relating to school drop-outs. This study was made to encourage students to take advantage of the unlimited educational opportunities available to them. A trip to the state farm show in Harrisburg added enjoyment to the girls' activities. For their service work, the girls have been making bedroom slippers which they will be donating to the Ephrata Hospital and to a convalescent home. Officers are P. Brenheiser, President; D. Hontz, Vice-President; S. Snyder, Secretary; and E. Frey, Treasurer.

MOUNTAINEER

So as to get the best news "slant" on the Junior High this year, that part of our school has gained its own page in the Mountaineer. The members of this staff have produced many interesting articles about the students, their activities, and many other interesting aspects of Junior High as well as Senior High. With the added experience behind them the staff can have great expectations for next year's school paper.

LIBRARY CLUB

Working hard in the library this year, the Library club members produced increased interest in that hall of literature. Some of this interest is shown by their observance of Book Week with the play, "A Day in the Life of a Book," and by their spreading of the Christmas Spirit in December. They are now becoming more familiar with the library to prepare themselves for their ultimate goal — becoming Senior High library assistants.

PROJECTORS CLUB

The main objective of the Projectors-Radio-Electronics Club is to teach the participants how to operate the audio visual equipment. Mr. Montgomery, the advisor of the club, has invited boys from each of his sections to join. One boy in each section is called upon to run the audio-visual equipment in the rooms in which his classes are held. The members of the club are studying for their amateur or technical radio license. As a service club, their main goal is to set up a small radio station.

GERMAN CLUB

Mrs. Baughman's German Club has broadened their knowledge of this essential language through many interesting activities. A German interpretation of "Little Red Riding Hood" was given for the German classes and the group also wrote a short play. German records and games provided enjoyment and also a learning situation. All the club members correspond with pen pals, thus gaining a deeper understanding of this much publicized country and its people.

BOYS' GYM CLUB

The Boys' Gym Club working with Mr. Snook competes in a varied number of sports. This competition might be soccer, relays, organized games, basketball, softball, or track. Learning many physical skills, the 54 boys also perform in the art of tumbling. Their club will present a program every other year as entertainment for junior high students.

GIRLS' GYM CLUB

Competition is the key word for the members of the Girls' Athletic Club, which is under the supervision of Mrs. Shrom. Divided into teams, they participate in various sports events, such as hockey, basketball, volleyball, accumulating points for individual awards at the end of the school year. In addition to these competitive sports, the girls also do apparatus work throughout the year.

CERAMIC CLUB

The girls of the Junior High have again organized a new and exciting club, the Girls' Ceramic Club. After learning various techniques, they started out by making freehand pots and then using the spinning wheel. Someday these girls may find a lifelong hobby or, perhaps, a career in this new interest.

LEATHER CLUB

One of the newest and most interesting clubs this year is the Girls' Leather and Plastics Club. The girls used their skills to make jewelry from plastics and accessories such as a key case from leathers. Mr. Quick, their advisor, has led them in pursuing a new and different hobby.

Under the supervision of Miss Reese, the newly-organized seventh grade dramatics club studied monologue and simple acting parts.

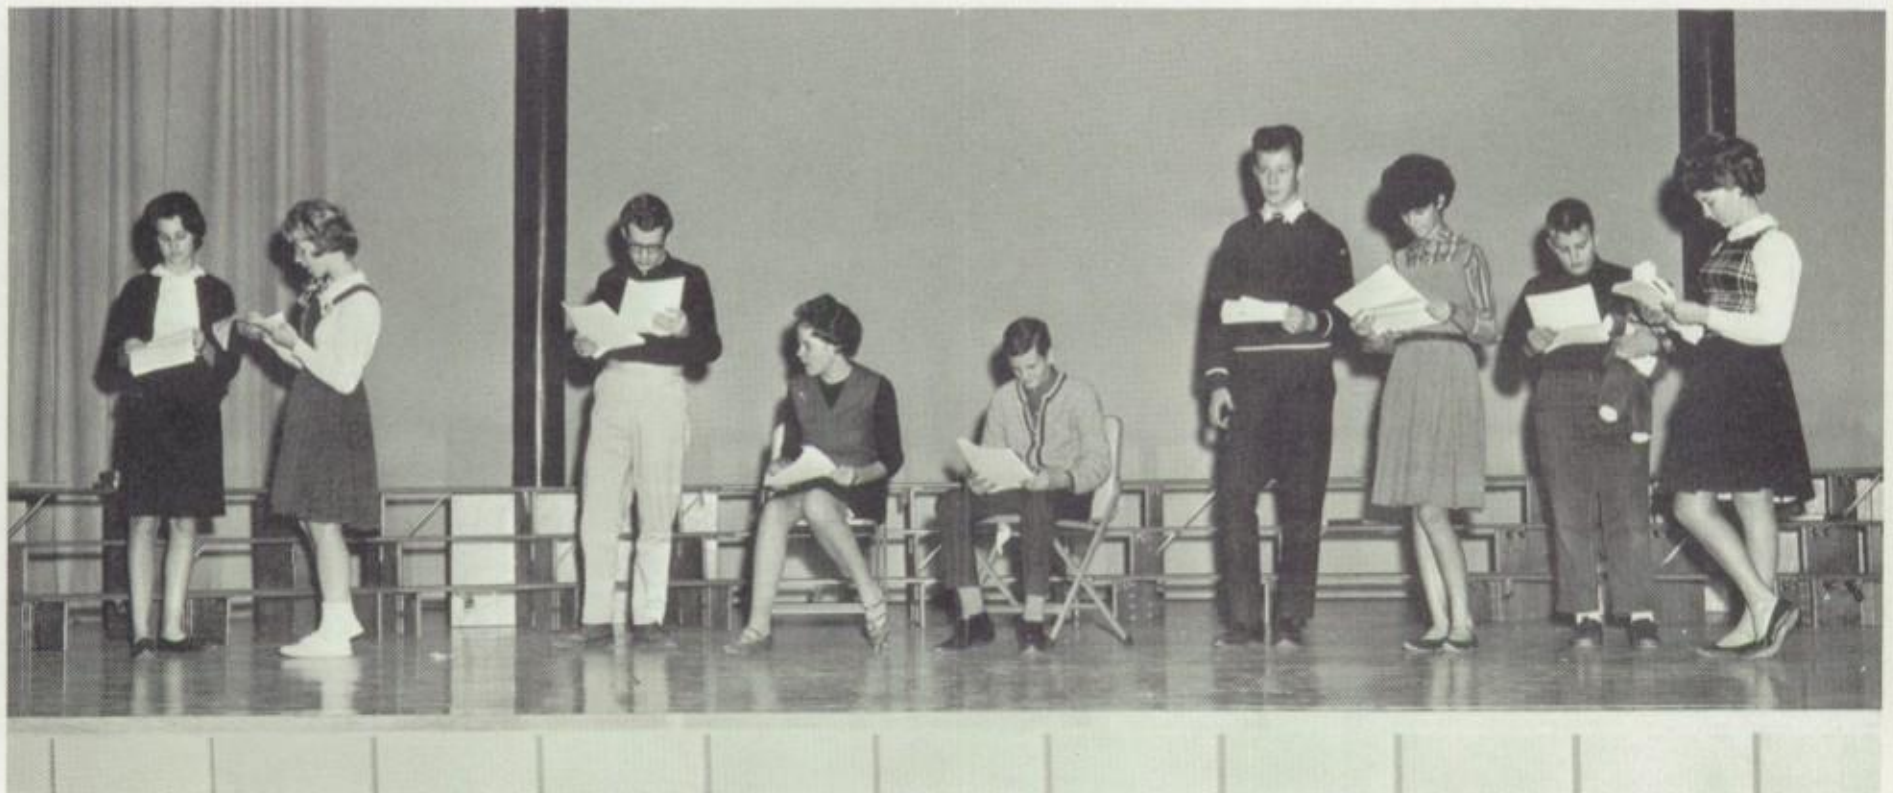

Working with the eighth graders, Mrs. Hershey coached them in a play entitled "Dial M for Mother."

With Mr. Bostic as its advisor, the ninth grade club presented two one-act plays, "Calling All Planets" and "Magic Bookshelf" for assemblies, and drafted their own play. Officers are President, G. Rabold; Vice-President, T. Gunselman; Secretary, S. Ruth; and Treasurer, S. Fassnacht.

ART CLUB

Have you noticed the various interesting door decorations for Art Room #1? This was a project of the Junior High Art Club this year. Much experience has been gained by each member of the club including not only that of an artistic nature, but also that of leadership. These experiences will certainly aid each member in the future.

Acquiring experience in leadership arises from the division of the club into pairs, each of which presents an idea to be worked on at the next meeting. Art "know-how" comes from working on projects not included in regular classes.

MATH CLUB

Being mathematic enthusiasts, the participants of this club join to learn more about mathematics and its related fields. They do research and discuss at club meeting topics such as logic and science projects. Mrs. Grater, the faculty advisor, introduces topics which are selected and prepared in advance and others which are open for discussion. One service they have performed was the presentation of an assembly program on January 22, 1964. Future plans for the club include a math trip to Millersville to observe the operating of the college computers.

JUNIOR HIGH AUGMENTS SCHOOL SPIRIT

Although the Junior High students are a bit smaller in size and less experienced in high school ways, they have displayed a great amount of vitality and enthusiasm in all activities.

The social program of the students includes their annual class parties and a dance sponsored by the Student Council. The football games and the basketball games are highlights of the pupils' school activities. The cheerleaders, social and sports leaders of the Junior High, guide the students in supporting and cheering their teams.

One of the functions of the Student Council is to make the Junior High more aware of their school government. Taking part in the execution of a working, active, governmental body will help all students become better school and national citizens.

PROGRESS . . . it's everywhere!

Now one man can do the work of a husky three-man team!

Great progress is being made in nearly every phase of endeavor. And some of the best examples of this progress can be found in schools like yours.

The farm equipment industry has made progress, too. Today, for instance, one man, working alone, can bale and load hay faster than a three-man crew. All by machine.

Producing the profit-making, labor-saving farm machine to accomplish that task is the job of the people who work at NEW HOLLAND MACHINE COMPANY — a part of the community since 1895.

Like your school, New Holland believes in fostering progress. The company and its people are pleased to pay tribute to the graduates of 1964, to their parents, their teachers and everyone else who has helped them reach such an important career milestone.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA
HARRISBURG

A high-quality school system which responds to the needs of the community requires responsibility from many groups: from the students whose intellectual and social development can enrich or destroy the culture and economy of the community; from the taxpayers who deserve effective use of their tax dollars; from parents who seek only the best for their children; from employers who rightfully expect to find basic skills in their employees; and from the entire Commonwealth which recognizes educated human beings as our most valuable resource.

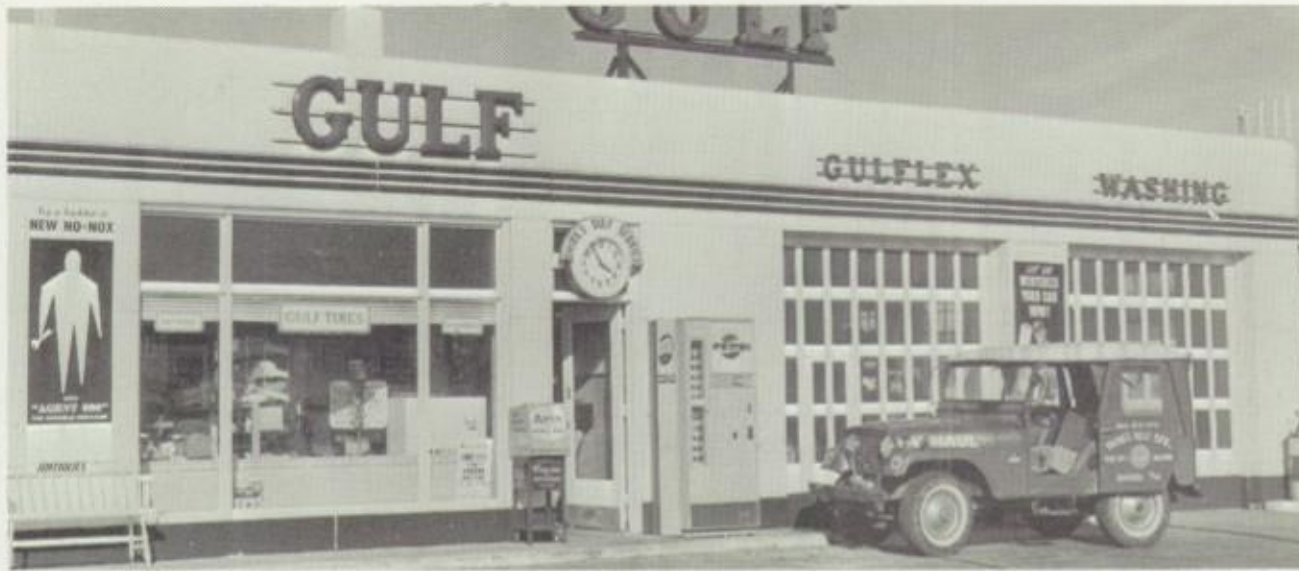

I respectfully submit for your consideration that every tax paying person in Lancaster County and in the Commonwealth has an investment and a proper vested interest in every student in this school district. The state of Pennsylvania, the Ephrata Union School District and your parents are in one gigantic partnership for your education - which will help insure the continued betterment of people, communities and governments.

Yours, in good citizenship,

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

We, the staff of the 1964 Cloisterette, wish to express our sincere gratitude to our advisors, who so kindly gave of their time and effort to make this yearbook a success; to our advertisers and patrons, without whose support this publication could not have been produced; and to all others who assisted in its preparation.

It was only through the combined efforts of all these people that this book, the 1964 Cloisterette, was made possible.

FAREWELL

Leaving the threshold of the door of our most important educational years, the class of 1964 looks to the future. We have a feeling of pride because of the friends we have made and the experiences we have encountered. Many of these experiences have given us a taste of success and happiness while others left the sting of defeat and disappointment.

The bell that marks our final dismissal from Ephrata High School also marks the beginning of a new life for us. Whether it be work or college, marriage or the Armed Forces, we will all be exploring new horizons. Whether these horizons will be bright or cloudy depends partly on how we have used the experiences gained in our high school years.

ALMA MATER

Hail, Alma Mater, Thee we uphold
Our ties grow stronger as the years unfold
We'll show our loyalty, To thee be true
Faith, hope, and truth revere Purple and Gold.

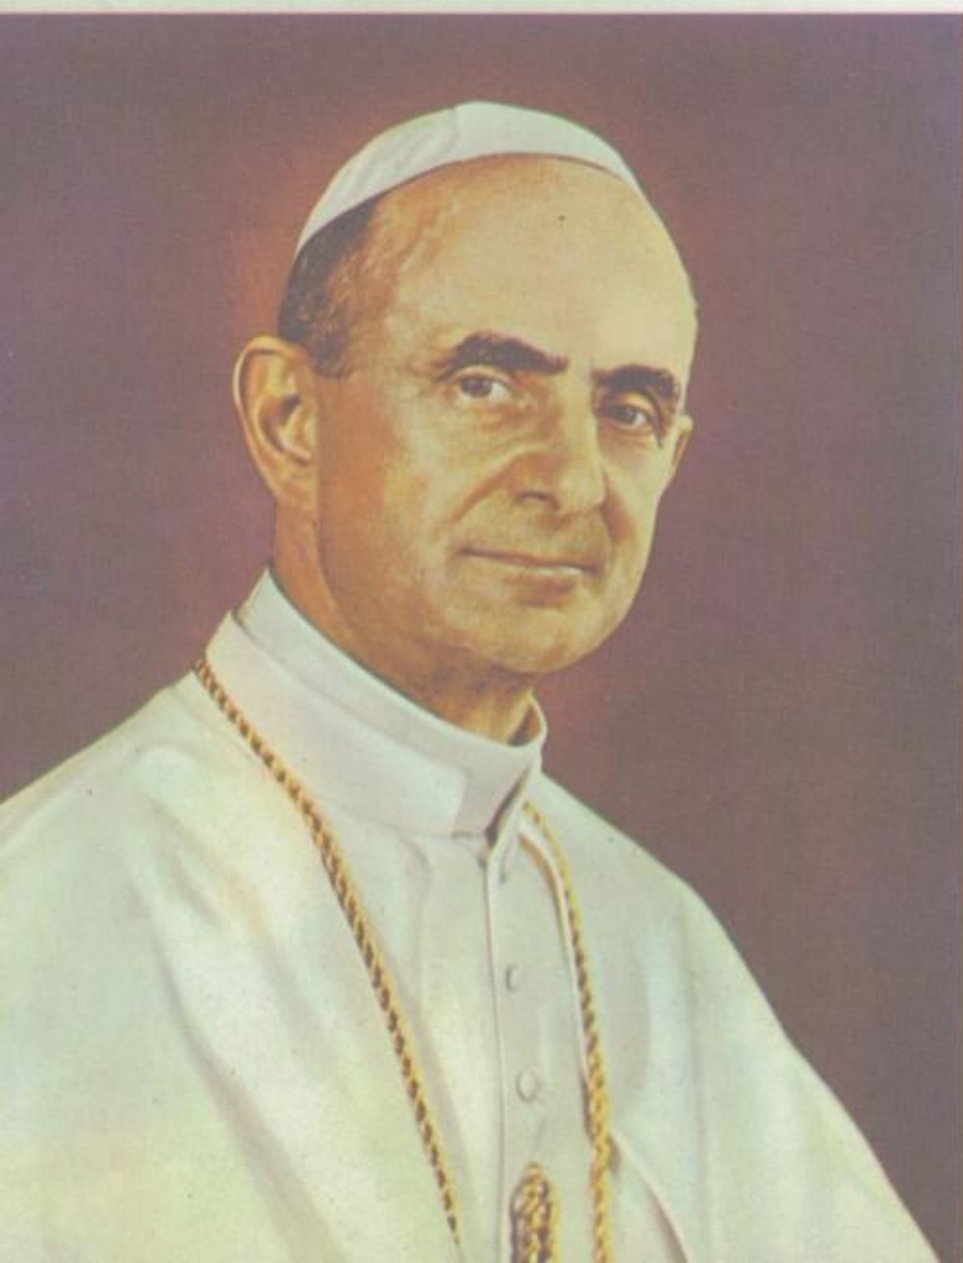

Above: A short step toward disarmament was taken with cautious optimism with the signing of the limited nuclear test ban treaty in Moscow. Seated: Sec. of State Dean Rusk, Andrei Gromyko, Lord Home. Premier Khrushchev stands behind Lord Home next to U.N. Secretary General U Thant, Adlai Stevenson and

U. S. Congressional leaders. Right photo: Red Chinese-Russian relations worsened during the year as they battled for leadership of world communism. This Moscow meeting between Mikhail Suslov, left, and Teng Hsiao-Peng in August failed to produce accord.

An unidentified priest went to the aid of a wounded soldier during a revolt in Venezuela. For this picture Hector Rondon won the 1963 Pulitzer Prize for news photography.

World Events in Review—1963

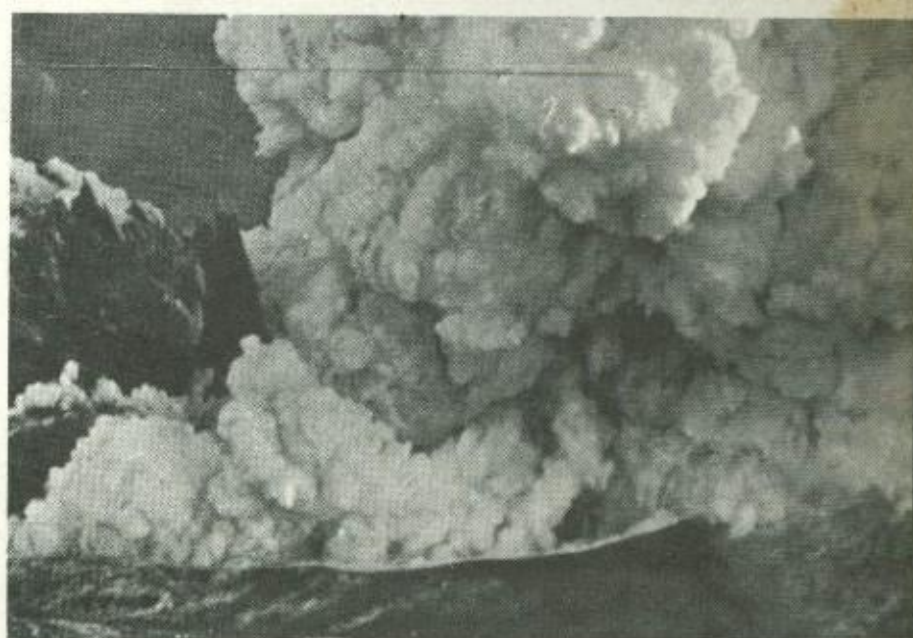

Pope Paul VI began his reign after the death of Pope John XXIII. Pope Paul reconvened the Ecumenical Council and at year's end planned an unprecedented journey to the Holy Land.

Left, below: Dr. Helge Ingstad, veteran Norwegian explorer found remains of a 9-house Viking settlement in Newfoundland dating 500 years before Columbus. Right: A huge landslide into Vaiont Reservoir in northern Italy sent a wall of water into the valley below destroying Longarone and killing some 3,000 people.

A new island, 1/4 mile long and 130 feet high, was born off southern Iceland from an underwater volcano.

Britain's new prime minister, Sir Alec Douglas-Home, took office in November, after scandals shook Harold Macmillan's government.

East-West tension continued: left; Gen. Chong of North Korea levels a pistol at U.N. spokesmen during discussions of armistice-violating raids at Panmunjom. Right; Russian attempts to control Allied access to Berlin failed in the face of western unity. This American convoy had been delayed 42 hours en route to the city.
